Paper 1 Reading and Writing

May/June 2026MARK SCHEMEMaximum Mark: 60

Published

This mark scheme contains the instructions and marking guidance that our examiners used to mark candidate responses for this component.

Before they start marking, examiners complete a standardisation process. They review a range of candidate responses and discuss the mark scheme in detail to agree which answers can and cannot be accepted. Examiners award marks where it is clear that candidate responses have met the requirements of the mark scheme. These requirements may vary between different components or different versions of the same component, depending on the exact requirements of the question and the candidate responses seen during the standardisation process.

Sometimes, our mark schemes may allow marks to be awarded to responses which contain elements that are factually incorrect or for content not covered by the syllabus. We do this in response to the demands of a specific question to support candidates and make sure that our assessments are fair. However, these allowances should not be used as a guide for teaching and learning.

We cannot discuss the mark scheme with schools, and we recommend that schools read the mark scheme together with the assessment material and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

This document consists of 13 printed pages.

General marking principles

All examiners must apply these marking principles when marking candidate responses.

1	Examiners must award marks for each response in line with: - the specific content defined in the mark scheme - the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the level descriptions - the standard of response required as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.
2	Examiners must award whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).
3	Examiners must award marks positively . This means that: - marks are not deducted for errors or omissions - marks are awarded for correct/valid answers as defined in the mark scheme and also for other valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme referring to your team leader as appropriate - the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar are judged only when the mark scheme indicates that these features are specifically assessed in the question. However, the meaning of all responses must be unambiguous.
4	Examiners must consistently apply the requirements of the mark scheme and any rules for what to do when candidates have not followed instructions correctly.
5	Examiners must use the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme, unless limited by the quality of the candidate responses seen.
6	Examiners must award marks according to the mark scheme and must not award marks with grade thresholds or grade descriptions in mind.

Annotations guidance for centres

Examiners use a system of annotations as a shorthand for communicating their marking decisions to one another. Examiners are trained during the standardisation process on how and when to use annotations. The purpose of annotations is to inform the standardisation and monitoring processes and guide the supervising examiners when they are checking the work of examiners within their team. The meaning of annotations and how they are used is specific to each component and is understood by all examiners who mark the component.

We publish annotations in our mark schemes to help centres understand the annotations they may see on copies of scripts. Note that there may not be a direct correlation between the number of annotations on a script and the mark awarded. Similarly, the use of an annotation may not be an indication of the quality of the response.

The annotations listed below were available to examiners marking this component in this series.

Annotations

Annotation	Meaning
	Credit for good language or content point
	Incorrect
	Omission
	Meaning unclear or illegible
	If the examiner considers the answer to be more correct than incorrect, then 'benefit of doubt' is given.
	Harmless addition: used if the candidate extends their answer, without contradicting or invalidating the response.
	To show the end of word count
	Repetition
	Invalidate: used if the candidate includes material in their answer which contradicts the correct answer, and therefore invalidates their response.
	Used to show that blank pages have been seen and any creditworthy material has been awarded

	QUESTION 21 Additional Marking Guidance: Email Q21 – Content marks: Put up to three ticks for any bullet points which are covered. Check blank pages for any content out of place. Use the SEEN annotation to indicate that you have read the content and given credit where it is due. Candidates should address all three points; however, it is not necessary to elaborate all three points equally. Q21 – Language marks: All generic band criteria should be kept in mind when deciding on the band. Less than 100 words will be considered too short for the highest mark of 5. In terms of the paragraphing criteria, for the top band (5 marks), there must be evidence of well-constructed and linked paragraphs. However, apply it as a 'best fit' logic if a candidate has met all the other criteria in the 4 marks or 3 marks band. In the top band (5 marks) complex structures involves using linking words such as 'because', 'but', 'therefore' and more than one clause. High accuracy means, almost all correct spelling of vocabulary and grammar. There may be a few minor errors. The appropriate address / register for email e.g. dear friend can be also considered as a 'best fit' for top band/bands if other relevant criteria is also available.

QUESTION 22 Additional Marking Guidance: Essay Q22 – Content marks: No annotations are required in the body of the essay. There are no word limit restrictions for more than 200 words. However, where the content is repeated, that content should not be considered for the word count. REP stamp should be used to indicate those lines. Similarly, if the written piece or part of it is not relevant to the essay topic, the Invalid (INVL) stamp should be used. For Q22 (Essay) considering top band content marks (7–8). (i) Clear relevance to the topic. In topic idea/statement, own viewpoint for/against should be present to award the top band of 7–8 marks. (ii) There should be some evidence of the candidate's own ideas apart from addressing the two exemplary dialogue points provided in the paper. (iii) To credit the full 8 marks in the top band, there should be some evidence of paragraphing in the written piece. (iv) Less than 180 words will be considered too short for the top band 7–8 mark. Development of ideas should be kept in mind when deciding on bands. In the top band (7–8 marks) 'complex structures' includes using linking words such as 'because', 'but', 'therefore', more than one clause and use of expressive phrases/proverbs.
